

on one side my table, he would immediately place himself on the other.

Then indeed, I thought myself, in a manner, secure of him, and gave him his belly full, as I had done the day before; but having a pressing occasion to go out, I went to the door, thinking to shut him in till my return; but he followed me so close, that I could not open it without endangering his getting out; which though he appeared pretty tame, I did not care to venture, our acquaintance being so very new: Yes, as I was obliged to go, I did run the hazard, to opened the door by degrees, that in case the beast should offer to run, I might take the opportunity to slip out, and keep him in ; but the creature ing to go any farther than I ed him to go with me, hopin went away, the kind usage might, one day or other, mal back again : But to my great well as satisfaction, he readily me, having waited my time ; occasion to go out a second ing sticks to make a fire, for obliged to go near the place of his kind resorted, I was him with me, lest he should b others ; therefore, having taken of cord, with which I tie up I watched an opportunity to leave him behind : But the h tainly apprehensive of my design ways kept near the door, look at my bundle of cords, as desir another ; which I not having a piece of mine, and gave m seeing I could not leave him tured to let him go with me, very orderly, never offering to of the way ; though others of to look at him as he went by.

Being come to the place to cut dry sticks, having
